Imani Hunter

Imani D. Hunter, a daughter of God with a pure heart of worship. One who carries the sound of God as a worship leader, ordained Evangelist since 2021, and empowering purpose coach at 28 years old. Imani deeply desires for people to become all that God has created them to be. She encourages others through God's word, her life experiences, and the sound that God has gifted to her. In March of 2019, Imani courageously stepped out in faith and birthed the vision that God gave her, Purposely Transforming. What initially started as a testimonial youtube channel turned into a motivational podcast, and has now expanded into purpose coaching. Through Purposely Transforming LLC women are encouraged to make changes intentionally, maximize their time, and amplify their voice to live a more purposeful life!

Imani believes that to know God is the ONLY way to truly know yourself. Imani, one who humbly exudes the power and grace of God has devoted her life to walking in the earth as a submitted daughter and selfless example to many. As she continues her journey of authentically aligning with God, it is her hope that her life will be a vivid reflection of God's purpose revealed and a life lived as God's instrument.
