Aayanna Jones

Aayanna Jones is proudly from Queens, NY. She obtained her Bachelors Degree in Sociology from SUNY Albany. Aayanna has been a Human Resources Professional for the past 6 years. She started her career as an HR Assistant and worked diligently to be promoted to an HR Generalist. Her specialty is Human Resources Information Systems for Employee Management (HRIS), with a specific focus on Onboarding, Off-boarding, and Employee Record management. As she continues to grow professionally in the field of Human Resources, she takes a special interest in Employee Relations. She is passionately driven to expand her scope of practice into areas where she can have a direct imprint on ensuring positive employee experiences in the workplace. Aayanna has supported various executive teams with her highly advanced administrative and interpersonal skill set.

Aayanna continues to seek professional development opportunities that will support her career advancement. Aayanna also aspires to recruit and mentor rising HR professionals of color from communities that are disproportionately served.

Aayanna's love for people and desire to see them thrive is not limited to her secular position. Aayanna is a bold Christian and a licensed Minister of Rhema Revealed Ministries in Troy, NY. There she serves on the leadership team as the leader of the Prayer Ministry, one of the Bible study teachers and as an administrator. Aayanna is a competent communicator and teacher of the Word of God. Her ability to make the scripture non-judgmental and relatable has opened the door for many tangible breakthroughs. Aayanna sees ministry as a greater opportunity to serve people. She leads and serves from a place of humility and transparency, not mastery. She desires to see people, specifically those that are seemingly forgotten and out of reach, changed by the love and grace of God.
